Purpose

The Infor Developer Portal is a publicly facing resource for employees, partners, and customers, specifically those with developer-related roles. The developer portal hosts a range of technical knowledge content, examples, tutorials, and walk-throughs for various Infor Technology verticals. The developer portal also mirrors API documentation hosted in the API Gateway, and provides a connection to other frequently used elements of the developer ecosystem.

Key Features

Tutorials

Tutorials, sorted by technology component, are available to help developers learn the tools at their disposal. Tutorials are structured with overviews, requirements, step-by-step instructions, images, and links to other related resources.

Component descriptions

Developer-focused descriptions of Infor Technology components, complete with collections of resources related to those components.

API catalog

API documentation from the API gateway accessible outside of a tenant.

Developer Ecosystem

Connections to the developer community, live events, challenges, and the Infor Marketplace

Benefits

- A resource for people who build with Infor Technology.
- Connect builders with each other to create an engaged community of developers.
- Help people find information in one centralized location outside of a paywall or login.

Support for Infor Users

Email developerportal@infor.com regarding issues with the developer portal.
